

National Center for Chronic Disease Prevention and Health Promotion

Exploring the National Health and Nutrition Examination Survey (NHANES) Oral Health Component: Current Content and Future Directions

National Oral Health Conference

April 15, 2018

8 am to 11 am

Room Bluegrass 2

Division of Oral Health (DOH)

Educational Objectives

- Discuss the background, purpose, and operational aspects of NHANES.
- Provide an overview and interactive exploration of the oral health component focusing on the most recently released data from the examination and questionnaire and highlight what is currently being collected in the field.
- Demonstrate for new data users the resources that are available for use of the oral health data, such as the procedural manuals and online tutorials.
- Participants will become familiar with the process used to include content on NHANES and how stakeholders can explore including new content on the survey.

Presenters

- Lorena Espinoza, DDS, MPH, Associate Director of Science and Surveillance, Investigations and Research Team Lead
 - Opening Remarks--National Oral Health Surveillance Efforts—Introduction to NHANES
- Gina Thornton-Evans, DDS, MPH, Dental Officer and Director of the CDC Dental Public Health Residency Program
 - The Oral Health Content--NHANES
- Mark Moss, DDS, PhD, Associate Professor, East Carolina University, School of Dental Medicine
 - How NHANES oral health data can better serve state health dental public programs?
- Eleanor Fleming, PhD, DDS, MPH, Dental Epidemiologist, NHANES Project Officer
 - Closing Remarks—Future directions for NHANES

NHANES Mobile Examination Center

NHANES Mobile Examination Center

NHANES Mobile Examination Center

